Collectis Reaches Milestone in Servier Collaboration

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--July 8, 2015--Regulatory News:

Collectis (Paris:ALCLS) (NASDAQ:CLLS) (Alternext: ALCLS – Nasdaq Global Market: CLLS), the gene-editing company employing proprietary technologies to develop best-in-class CAR T-cell products in adoptive immunotherapy for cancer, today announced the achievement of a significant milestone under the Company's collaboration agreement with Servier, in the preclinical development of two next-generation product candidates in solid tumors.

Under the terms of the Company's collaboration agreement with Servier, Collectis is eligible to an undisclosed payment.

The collaboration announced in February 2014, is focused on research, development, and potentially commercialization of five product candidates targeting leukemia and solid tumors.

“We are very pleased with the productivity of this alliance enabling us to accelerate our development in the field of solid tumors,” commented Mathieu Simon, MD, EVP Chief Operating Officer of Collectis.

“We believe that immunotherapy will dramatically change the management of metastatic cancers. Our goal at Servier is to make these new technologies available for the largest number of cancer patients,” commented Jean-Pierre Abastado, MD, Director Oncology Innovation Therapeutic Pole of Servier.
